

Editorial Comment.

Ye men who won in politics,
Are still deep in a jolly fix,
Before you read your titles clear,
Must run another race this year,
'Tis all right now, but just remember,
Three months ahead will come November.

The Webster county fair is being held at Providence this week.

F. A. Casner has been appointed postmaster at Providence, Ky. He succeeds R. W. Hunter, who resigned recently.

Representative R. Y. Thomas, Jr.
of Greenville, cut a House doorkeeper named Goodlett with a knife in an altercation at a Washington Hotel.

A leopard which had escaped
from a circus at Crookstown, Minn., attacked two children, whose lives were saved by a Collie dog which fought the leopard and was killed
by it.

T. T. Hanbery, Republican postmaster at Eddyville, has resigned and will resume the practice of law.
Frank Withers, of that place, and B. T. Mayhew, of Lamasco, are applicants for the position.

The annual reunion and picnic of the I. O. O. F. of Kentucky and Indiana will be held at Fountain Ferry Park, Louisville, August 14 and 15.
At least 20,000 members of the order are expected to attend.

Roland Jenkins, of Colville was killed and Arden Parrish and Mrs.
Kenneth Sigler, of Providence, were seriously injured when a Louisville & Nashville passenger train struck the automobile in which they were riding.

Reductions in express rates which will cost the companies fully $26-000,000 a year, approximately 16 per cent of their gross revenue, have been ordered by the Interstate Commerce Commission, to become effective on or before October 15, 1913.

The Low Bidders On Building.

FIGURES $600 TOO HIGH.

Certain Minor Changes To Be Made To Come Within The Limit.

Bids for the construction of the new Carnegie Library on the corner of Tenth and Campbell streets, in Peace Park, were opened Tuesday
and of several bids that of Forbes Manufacturing Co. was the lowest, but it was about $600 or $700 beyond the limit. It is probable that the specifications will be altered to come within the $15,000 limit and that an early contract will be entered into for the erection of the building.

ANOTHER MOTOR CAR.

Market Gardener Put One Into Service This Week.

J. W. Keeling, who runs a market garden on the Russellville road, was not only nominated for magistrate
this week, but took an advance step in his business by putting into service a new motor car. The car, excepting the machinery, was built by the Forbes Manufacturing Co. Mr.
Keeling lays some claim to being the champion strawberry grower. With his motor car he can now place his vegetables on the market in the morning before the dew of night has disappeared.

SAFE BLOWERS
AT CROFTON

Secured About One Hundred Dollars In Stamps
and Left.

$400 IN ANOTHER SAFE

Two Men Arrested Here An Hour After the Robbery
Of the Postoffice.

The supposed professional cracks-
men broke the glass out of the door of the postoffice at Crofton Tuesday morning and then with nitroglycerine blew the door off the safe and secured nearly $100 in stamps, mostly parcel post stamps.

The particulars of the visit of the safe blowers were given by Mr. M. A. Brown, a son of Postmaster M. B. Brown, who has held the office for fifteen years. He recently asked the postoffice department to relieve him, but his request has not been granted.

The explosion was at 2:45 a. m.,
the time being indicated by the clock
in the office, which was stopped by the jar of the explosion. It was heard only by Will Boyd, who was in his room about 30 feet from the postoffice and was awake at the time, owing to sickness. As soon as he heard the explosion he called Mr.
M. A. Brown, who lives about 300 yards from the postoffice, who took his gun and went at once to the postoffice. Mr. Boyd in the meantime had reconnoitered and saw three men near the hotel. When he approached them the men walked off.
Brown and Boyd, knowing that it was about time for the Southbound fast freight to come in, stationed themselves where they could see them get on the train. They did not see them get on, but saw them
on it as the train passed them. Mr.
Brown at once telephoned to police headquarters here, telling the night
office man of what had occurred.
Lieut. Hawkins and Officers Haydon, Anderson, Witherspoon, Barnett and Carter went up the track to Fourth street and flagged the train, which came to a stop.

Lieut. Hawkins climbed up on the car and arrested one of the men, catching him by the foot as he lay on the car. The other two descended from the car and one of them was grabbed by the other officers, but the other made a dash for liberty—down Fourth street pursued by Officer Anderson. Reaching the river he ran across without stopping and disappeared on the west side.

The two men, who would not give their names when arrested, were taken to police headquarters and afterwards were placed in the lockup. Both of them denied their guit but were held on the charge of carrying concealed weapons.

Each of the men arrested had a fine Colt's pistol in his pocket.
They are rough looking men and one of them has but one eye. After the train on which they were stealing a ride had passed here and gone some distance some of the crew found the stamps on top of the car. They telegraphed their find to Postmaster
Brown at Crofton.

There was another safe in the postoffice which the cracksmen had endeavored to get into. This safe contained the reserve stamps of the office, amounting to nearly $400.
Mr. M. A. Brown had considerable difficulty in getting the safe open,
owing to the efforts of the robbers to do the same thing. He found that they had tried to get in the safe
by pounding the bolts with a sledge hammer.

Later the men gave their names
as J. B. Benson and Tom Price.
Benson had a certificate from Dr.
J. B. Cummins, of Lexington, Ky., as a worthy object of charity. This certificate may lead to the identification of at least one of the trio.
The men will be turned over to the

HOSPITAL
CONTRACT LET

No Deviation From Original
Plans by Louisville Architects.

GROUND BROKEN WEDNESDAY

Local Company Made Lowest
and Best Bid Over Competitors.

After many unavoidable delays,
the Trustees of the Jennie Stuart Memorial Hospital, at their meeting held last Tuesday, awarded the contract for building the hospital to the Forbes Mfg. Co. There were several contractors who wanted to secure the contract, but the local company
submitted the lowest and best bid.

The trustees want it generally known that, in deference to the wishes of Dr. Stuart, there was no deviation whatever in the plans and specifications of the architects. The most minute details will be carried out and ground was broken Wednesday for the foundation.

The site for the building was selected some time since by the Trustees. It is situated on the South side of West Seventeenth street, near Kenton street. It is highly located and in a quiet part of the city.
A concrete sidewalk from Main street is to be put down and shade trees are to be planted at proper distances. The location is in every way ideal and the handsome building will be quite an addition to that part of the city.

Dr. Stuart is enthusiastic over the action of the Trustees, and in a talk with the Trustees said, "Now, boys, go ahead and build the hospital. If I live longer than I expect to, or longer than you expect me to, I may come down and stay awhile myself."

It will be remembered that this noble-hearted man not only gave the cash money for building the hospital to perpetuate the memory of his deceased wife, but all his other property at his death passes into the hands of the trustees for the use of the hospital.

federal authorities for prosecution.
A postoffice inspector is expected here on any train to look into the cases of the two prisoners. That the action of the Government will take precedence of the Commonwealth is generally conceded.

EARLY MARRIAGE

Dr. Thompson United the Destinies of Miss Smithson
and Mr. Jackson.

Miss Mary Smithson and Mr. Chas.
Jackson, Jr., were married Tuesday morning by Dr. C. M. Thompson, at his home Tuesday morning. The ceremony was witnessed by Mrs.
Verna Smithson, Mr. Oscar Howell
and Miss Willie Smithson. After the ceremony they took the Southbound L. & N. train for Chattanooga, where they will remain for a short time.

The bride has been cashier for J.
H. Anderson & Co., for several years and is one of the best known and most popular young ladies in the city. She is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Smithson. Mr. Jackson has been in the shoe department of the same house for some time. The wedding was a surprise to nearly everybody, even to some of the people in the stores, but the engagement is said to have existed for two years.

TIE VOTE IN ONE RACE

Ira D. Smith Wins By the Toss Of a Silver
Dollar.

HARRIS AND MCGEE WON

Official Canvass Makes But Few
Minor Changes In First Reports.

The County Board of Election Commissioners met Tuesday and canvassed the returns of the Democratic and Republican official primary elections held Saturday. But few minor changes were made by the official count. Frank Rives for County Attorney gained one vote in Hopkinsville No. 7, the result in that race resulting in a tie, both Rives and Ira D. Smith having 1327 votes. L. J. Harris gained one vote over R. T. Stowe for County Clerk, making his majority 23. W. J. Mc-Gee for Assessor lost one, leaving his plurality 24.

Other official results are shown in the footings here given.

The Board met again yesterday to complete its canvass and to consider the tie in the race for County Attorney.

SMITH WINS.

Yesterday morning in the Circuit Court room the commissioners ordered that the tie be settled by lot and it was done in the presence of eight or ten witnesses.

Mr. Rives selected S. Y. Trimble and Mr. Smith selected James Breathitt, Sr., to toss the coins for them. Two silver dollars were tossed at the same time. On the first throw, if the coins matched it was to be Rives. They came up different, which gave first blood to Smith. On the second toss the coins were to match for Smith and they came up matching. This gave Mr.
Smith the victory without a third toss being necessary.

Caracas, Venezuela, Aug. 6.—An army of 7,000 men, comprising three brigades divided into seven regi-

lery, left Caracas to-day to operate against the rebel followers of ex-

President Juan Vicente Gomez will leave the capital to-morrow and lead
the army to Maracay, fifty miles southwest of Caracas.

Castro, in his revolutionary campaign to overthrow the Gomez administration and regain the presidency, has under his command, according to latest advices, about 12,000 men.

Castro is reported to have been received enthusiastically when he landed at Coro, in the state of Falcon.
He is now said to be marching against Barquisimeto, capital of the state of Lara, at the head of 4,000 men.

Two of Castro's adherents, General Rosario Gonzales and General Penuela, who crossed into Venezuelan territory from the Colombian frontier with 3,000 followers, are reported to be augmenting their rebel army
as they proceed through the inland towns.

Generals Navas and Araujo, two of Castro's lieutenants operating in the state of Zulia, are leading 2,500 men against Maracaibo, capital of the state and the principal seaport of Venezuela.

BAND CONCERT FEATURE

With Short Addresses by the Mayor, Ira D. Smith, and
T. C. Underwood.

The formal opening of Virginia Park will take place to-morrow night with simple ceremonies. The carpenters and plasterers have given the finishing touches to the Pavilion, which was finished yesterday morning.
The painters will put on the last coat of paint to-day and the plumbers and light men will finish what they have to do to-day.

Parkkeeper Gresham is about
through with raking off the grass and everything will be in apple pie
order for to-morrow night.

The Third Regiment Band of 24 pieces will give a Band Concert from 7:30 to 11 p. m. in the Pavilion. The dedicatory program will begin at 8-o'clock and will be carried out as follows:

Meeting called to order by Mayor
Meacham, who will make formal presentation of the Park in accordance with the will of John C. Latham.

Mr. Ira D. Smith will then deliver an address appropriate to the unvail-ing of Revolutionary Tablets at Ry-erside Cemetery, on the subject
"Our Forefathers."

These addresses will all be short and at the conclusion of the program
the band will continue the concert
throughout the evening.

The pavilion, the principal feature of the park, is on the eastern side.
It is built of native stone and is 32 feet square. A broad flight of steps in front leads to an open pavilion above, which is circular in shape and supported by octagon-shaped columns. A massive stone railing and casing extends around the four sides of the Pavilion. Upon the buttresses in front the huge lions, a feature of the old Latham homestead, have been mounted. On a stone on the left side is the inscription:

Virginia Park,
Bequeathed by
John C. Latham,
August 18, 1909

As a Memorial to His Mother.

Opened August 8, 1913.

The iron fence has not all been put in place and the tiling for the roof
has not been put on the Pavilion.
The paper roofing for the present
will serve the purpose.

The Pergola is a temporary wooden one, erected at a slight cost to support the vines for a year or two.
The plans call for a costly concrete or stone Pergola in the end.

The fund available for the improvements is $17,000 and so far only $7,000 has been expended. The rest is on safety deposit drawing 3 per cent interest.

It will take several years to carry out all of the plans adopted by the present committee.

LONG OCEAN TRIP

Little Craft Went From Michigan to Russia.

Detrolino Motor Boat 35 Feet Long Makes Remarkable Record—Voyage Completed in Less Than Two Months From Home.

When the stanch motor boat Detroit set out from the city whose name it bore, with St. Petersburg Russia, as its final destination, wise acres shook their heads at the idea of so diminutive a craft, propelled by a gasoline engine, being able to make the voyage.

But the croaking prophets were mistaken, the Technical World says. For while the Detroit was buffeted about by wind and wave until at times the doughty mariners confessed sharing the fears of the wisecracks, the launch—it was little more—poked its nose into Queenstown harbor, with scarcely a sign of hard usage, just 21 days and 16 hours after setting out from New York. This was the longest continuous trip ever made by a motor boat, and until then regarded as an impossibility, if for nothing else than the inability to carry a sufficient supply of fuel.

The Detroit was not designed for beauty, strength and seaworthiness being the chief considerations. It was 35 feet over all, with nine-foot beams, five-foot six-inch draft, and a displacement of about 12 tons when fully equipped and loaded. It had a two-cylinder two cycle motor, developing 16 horsepower and capable of driving the boat a trifle more than six miles an hour. In addition it was fitted with a 32-foot mast and sufficient sail if occasion should arise.

The question of fuel supply was solved through the installation of seven tanks, with a combined capacity of 1,233 gallons of gasoline, two of these tanks being located on deck amidships, the rest in the hold. With a volcano like this under foot, every precaution had to be taken to guard against fire. Captain Day was the only man to carry matches, and smoking was positively prohibited. Cooking was done on a stove heated from the exhaust to the engine, the device proving entirely satisfactory. Only once on the entire trip was there danger from fire, and then the blaze was extinguished before any harm resulted.

A few days out from New York the Detroit was caught in a blow, and the shaking up revealed the fact that the 250 gallon freshwater tanks had not been properly cleaned before filling, the stock becoming brackish. Once on the voyage a big transatlantic liner was halted and requisitioned for a supply of drinking water. Aside from this, and continued rough weather that repeatedly sent even the most seasoned to their bunks, no inconvenience was experienced by the three men who assisted the captain as crew. The boat did not prove to be a good runner in heavy seas, but it made up for all this when it came to lying to and riding heavy seas. The low midship deck proved a defect, for the boat shipped water on slight provocation, although this did not interfere with the motor's operation.

The Detroit cleared from Detroit, running across Lake Erie, through the Erie canal, down the Hudson and to New York, where several days were spent in preparation for the dash across the Atlantic. Queens-town was reached three weeks later, the running time between the two ports being exactly 21 days 16 hours. A few days at Queenstown and the Detroit proceeded to Cowes, thence to St. Petersburg by the way of the English channel, the North and Baltic seas. The Russian capital was reached in less than two months after the departure from New York. Something more than 7,000 miles was covered in this remarkable voyage of nearly one-third the distance around the earth.

Just Fishing.

Capt. George Walker, an amateur yachtsman of Savannah, says he used to have a dark hand on his Georgia plantation who loved ease and fishing. When he wasn't fishing he was loafing.

One night there was a rain almost heavy enough to be called a cloudburst and the next morning all the low places on the plantation were flooded two feet deep. Passing the negro's cabin, Capt. Walker found him seated in an easy chair at the kitchen door, fishing in a small puddle of muddy water that had formed there.

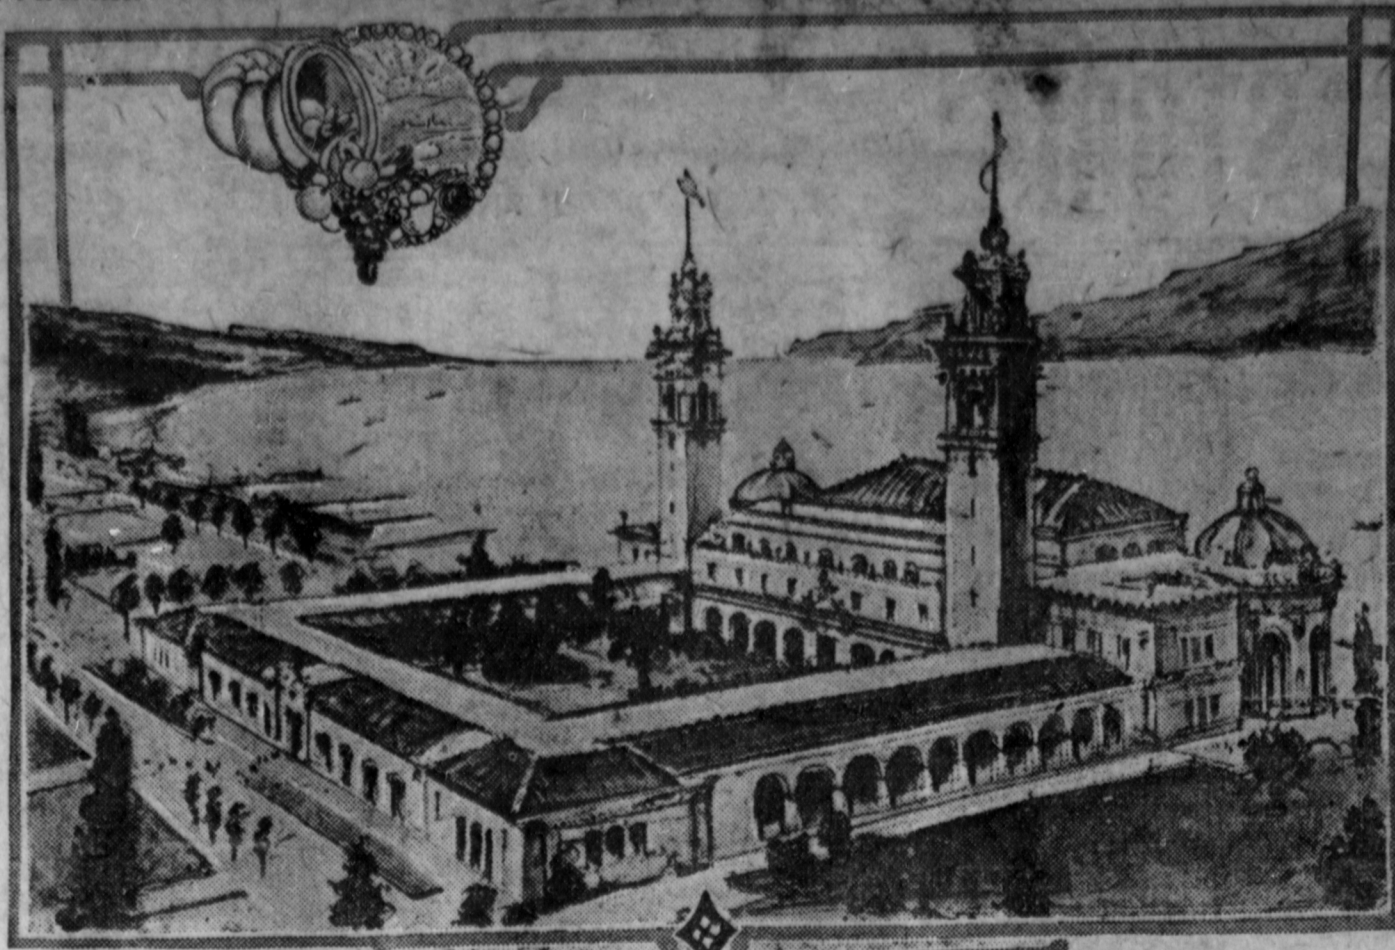

"Henry, you old fool," said Capt. Walker, "what are you doing there?" "Boss," said Henry, "I 'se jest fishin a little."

"Well, don't you know there are no fish there?" demanded Capt. Walker. "Yas, suh," said Henry; "I knows dat. But dis here place is so handy!"

"Arresting the Soul."

As a rule the Polish people are very fond of their pastor. They would love him still better "if he was not obliged to attend the dying, a service the soul rewards by following him." Therefore, when a peasant meets his pastor anywhere outside of the village he stops behind him and throws a bit of cord or a handful of hay on the shadow of the clerical gentleman. This is called "arresting the soul." For the soul gets entangled in the cord or hay and can no longer follow the priest entering houses, gardens, etc., where it might do mischief.

A FINE TOUCH.

One of two darkies who run a boot-black "parlor" in partnership was bragging of his well-developed sense of touch, particularly in the matter of money. He boasted that he could tell the denomination of any United States coin merely by feeling it. His partner wearied of these boasts and came back with this:

"Your sense of feelin' ain't nothing to my friend Marcus. Him and me used to work on the Pullman down through Kansas. Marcus had been on this route for about ten years. One night when we was both a-sleepin', long around midnight I wakes up and I shakes Marcus and I says: 'Marcus, where are we?' An' Marcus he jest rolls over and sticks his hand out the window and he says: 'We're goin' through Oswego.'—Everybody's.

Wise.

"So you have determined to sue me for breach of promise?"
"Yes."
"With damages?"
"Of course."
"Well, say, I've got just one favor to ask of you. Don't sue me for less than $100,000. I haven't got a dollar in the world that I can call my own, and it might help my credit."

Children Cry FOR FLETCHER'S CASTORIA

Now Comes the Golf Faker.

A ball played by a golfer at Weston super-Mare struck a skylark, so we read, and cut the bird's head off. You should hear us tell our story of the golf ball which stuck in a bird's beak in the middle of its flight. The bird flew off with the ball to its nest. Fortunately for the player, the bird had made its nest in the next hole.—London Globe.

Overheard on the Train.
"O, that's the oldest story in the world. Noah told it to his boys in the ark."
"Yes, old chap; I know it's a chestnut; but the only new stories are the ones you tell."
"Well—er—it's a fact that I generally do get hold of the freshest ones."

Warning Him.

Rev. Gude—We Christians have a beautiful city made of solid gold, with streets of pearl, gates of precious stones, and—Deacon Bullion—Great Scott, man, chop that dope! Before you know it you'll have the Pujo bunch up here asking you where you got it.—Puck.

Sea Clothing.

Bacon—I see the bureau of manufacturing in Washington has received samples of a cloth made in England from a species of seaweed found in the southern sea.
Egbert—Why can't it be used for making sheath skirts for mermaids or some outlandish suit for lobsters?

MIGHT BE WORTH THOUSANDS.

First Senator—What do you think of a man who spends thousands and thousands of dollars in politics?
Second Senator—I can't tell what I think of him until I know what office he landed.

A la Mode.

Now, here's a fact you can't refute—The modern maids are few Who don't possess at least one suit Of Copenhagen blue.

Only on Condition.

Reporter—Senator, don't you think mothers ought to be pensioned?
Statesman—That is a delicate question, young man. In certain cases I should be in favor of such a measure, but it—er—would depend entirely on the quality of the children.

An Advocate.

"Do you favor votes for women?"
"I do," replied the London policeman. "It would be a great comfort to me to see a crowd of suffragettes marching up and quietly voting instead of making unkind remarks and throwing dynamite."

Breakers Ahead.

"Pa, what is a sinking fund?"
"You are too young to understand such things," replied the worried parent. "Wait until you have a bank account, and then you will know."

Not at All.

"Miss Maud is a single-minded girl, isn't she?"
"Not much. She's going to be married next month."

Natural Resemblance.

"That sexton looks very much like my cousin."
"That's nothing. He is a ringer for the whole parish."

Sounds Like It.

"I think your friend has a case of auto hypnosis."
"Has that got anything to do with joy riding?"

Growing in Favor.

The water from the well located on the farm of Luther H. Smithson, near Church Hill, is growing in favor every day. The most obstinate cases of indigestion, constipation and stomach trouble are yielding to the medical qualities of this water by a few days use. Probably half the people who say they have "heart trouble" have nothing but indigestion, sometimes manifestly in an acute form. Try the water from Mr. Smithson's well for a few days and test its virtues for yourself. He delivers it your home at 12 1/2 cents a gallon.

Among the many who are using it with beneficial effects we mention: Flem Clardy, Muncy Moss, Roy Kenner, Gus Breathitt, Jno. C. Hoee, J. W. Lander, Rev. E. W. Barnett, Del. Henderson, John C. Gary. See them. Telephone Coates' drug store or call 633, 5 rings. Advertisement.

Such an individual is called a philosopher.—Bulletin, Sidney.

BALD HEAD CLUB MEETS

Five Members Nominated for Seats in the City Council.

FIRST MEET FOR SOME TIME.

Held at Edgewater Park Saturday Night and Notification Committee Named.

Promptly at 12 o'clock Saturday night on the veranda of the bath house at Edgewater Park, President Green Champlin called the Bald Headed Club to order by the glare of electric lights, supplemented by the soft glow of the dog star in the South.

I want to be serious to-night, said the President, and I want to call your attention to the fact that the brightest star in the entire constellation is the most Sirius. So if any of you want to be bright, cut out the funny business and let us for one time surround ourselves with an air of solemnity and serousness.

These are indeed serious times. Wars and rumors of wars fill the earth. The Mexicans, who used to have a revolution every two years now have two revolutions every year. The Balkans that combined to whip Turkey fell out over the spoils and Turkey, like its namesake of the buzzard family, is quietly perched on a limb waiting for the dinner bell when the fight is over. Even the Chinese are trying to start something in the fighting line and our old friend Castro has broken out again in Venezuela. Here in our own country we are threatened with epidemics of hookworms and liars. The hookworm, that insidious germ of laziness, threatens to exterminate the germs of work until the drones in the hive of industry have all the Hall's Catarh Cure is taken internally, and acts directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces. Hall's Catarh Cure is not a quack medicine. It was prescribed by one of the best physicians in this country for years and is a regular prescription. It is composed of the best tonics known, combined with the best blood purifiers, acting directly on the mucous surfaces. front seats, and living expenses are up in a balloon.

But there are some people who are working overtime—the Disciples of Ananias. Every Ananias Club in the country has doubled its membership and a dark horse prevaricator in Washington has forged to the front until he has the honor of having been called a liar by 87 different statesmen. Mulhall has made our greatest champion liars green with envy and the campaign liars have been abroad in all their glory. With campaigns all over the State and two sets of candidates furnishing campaign thunder for the real storm in November, there has been something doing every minute and this Club has been taking its vacation out in the woods. Now that the Ides of August have come and the candidates have been thinned down to two in a bill, there is time for something else besides politics and I have called this august body together to try to beat some sense into the heads of some of the members. If any man present can open his mouth without putting his foot in it, I am ready to entertain any motion he desires to make. At this point Colonel Ike Hart, who was sitting on a diving board, made a motion to get up and fell into the river. The Colonel has learned to swim since the river has been improved and was able to swim out. Pulling himself onto the platform, he shook himself and resumed his seat, apparently none the worse off for his involuntary bath.

President Champlin was visibly annoyed by the interruption, but didn't knock on the Colonel, explaining that he was no longer the official knocker for the town. However he said any member who desired to, would be allowed to make a pertinent comment.

Col. Dick Holland said about all he had to say was that Ike was in "a damp bad fix."

Col. Bill Howell said, "Ike, I'd ask you for a match, but I know it wouldn't strike."

Several other members were clearing their throats to take part in the discussion of Col. Hart's Sad Plight, when Col. Major Woodriddle rushed upon the scene waving a piece of paper in his hand and shouting, "Bob's Got It, Bob's Got It, by three times thirteen."

As soon as he could be quieted he explained that his distinguished brother ex-President Robert M. Woodriddle had been made the victim of a popular uprising and the nomination from the Sixth Ward had been thrust upon him.

"Does he know it?" asked Col. Bill Wilgus.

"I haven't told him yet."

"Then don't tell him. Let's spring it on him as a surprise at the next meeting and notify him officially."

Col. Wilgus moved that a committee of five be named to officially notify Col. Woodriddle of his nomination and urge him to accept.

The motion was adopted by a rising vote.

Before the committee could be named, Col. Mose Elb, leaped from an automobile and brought in the startling intelligence that an entire council of bald headed men had been nominated with but one exception. The motion was then made to include the other nominees who were members and to make the occasion the most important event in the history of the Club.

President Champlin appointed on the committee Colonels Bill Wilgus, Bill Hancock, Bill Howell, Bill Cooper and Bill Bowles.

The following nominees, all members of the Bald Headed Club, will be officially informed of their nominations at some meeting of the Club to be held in the future: Col. Charlie Gee, Col. Sam Buckner, Col. J. A. Southall, Col. Bob Woodriddle and Col. Bailey Russell.

There will be something doing when the committee and candidates are matched in an oratorical bout of five rounds.

It will most likely be held at the Virginia Park Pavilion and the public invited.

Excitement is intense and expectation on tip-toe.

A Card.

Gracey, Ky., Aug. 6, 1913.

To my friends:

While I bow in humble submission to the will of the voters of the Republican party, and as I go down in defeat for the nomination for the office for which I was a candidate, I want to thank my many friends that were so kind to me while making my race, and also thank those that gave me their support, and say to all that I started out to make a clean and honorable race, and I can truthfully say that I have done nothing that was dishonorable, while making the race, and would rather be defeated than do anything that would be dishonorable. As I said in the beginning, I was making the race alone, and depending on my friends to give me the nomination, all without promise from me other than fair and honest dealings with my fellow man.

Though I am defeated, I am still a Republican, and want to take off my hat to my friend, Leonard E. Fowler, and wish him good luck for the November election, and say to him that I am for him and the old republican party, for November. And remember, those of you who were so kind as to vote for me, that you voted for a straight forward and honorable man. So again thanking you one and all for your kindness and support, with this I close.

When we come into this world,

We are little and bare,

As we go through this world

We have trouble and care.

When we leave this world,

We go, we know not where,

But if we are alright here

We will be alright there.

Very truly, yours,

HUGH C. MCGEE.

The 89th session of Bethel Baptist Association was held at Auburn Tuesday and Wednesday, with 39 churches represented and about 100 messengers in attendance.

The World long since established a record for impartiality, and anybody can afford its Thrice-a-Week edition, which comes every other day in the week, except Sunday. It will be of particular value to you now. The Thrice-a-Week World also abounds in other strong features, serial stories, humor, markets, cartoons; in fact, everything that is to be found in a first class daily.

DE LESSEPS PALACE

Colon, C. Z.—"The engineer's dream of the centuries has been realized." Everyone who writes of the Panama canal feels bound to use that phrase, and though it is trite, it is no less true.

Possibly when Balboa first stood on the "Peak of Darien" and gazed entranced at the waters of what he called the Southern sea the thought of cutting through the isthmus came to him. Certainly, within three years after his great discovery or in 1516, he had transported two ships, in pieces, across from the Atlantic to the Pacific and there put them together.

It could not have been very much later that the idea of an isthmian canal was born, for during the reign of Philip II. of Spain (1556-1598) the Inquisition declared that any such project to alter the face of the earth was impious, and the Spanish ruler forbade its further discussion. The ban of the church was effective for some time, but in 1699 a Scotchman of the name of Patterson revived the scheme, established a colony on the shores of the isthmus and even made a crude survey of the proposed route. Caledonian bay, on the north shore of Panama, alone preserves the memory of that attempt. French scientists in 1735 advocated a Nicaragua canal, fifty years later the Spanish government ordered a survey of the Darien route, and early in the nineteenth century von Humboldt declared a canal was practicable. In 1825, immediately after Latin America had freed itself from Spain, the Central American and United States Atlantic and Pacific Canal company was organized, and one of the directors of the concern with the high-sounding name was DeWitt Clinton. Various schemes were started and fell through, and in 1835 the United States senate voted for the building of a Nicaragua canal. An expedition was sent to that country and reported that the canal could be constructed at a cost of $23,000,000.

After the Civil war there was much negotiating by our government for a canal concession, but when the Nicaragua route seemed to be the favorite the Bogota government became impatient and gave the concession for a Panama canal to Lucien Napoleon Bonaparte Wyse, a French lieutenant. He made some maps and organized a company which sold out to the financiers with whom Ferdinand de Lesseps had associated himself.

Albert Edwards in his admirable book on Panama thus describes the beginning of the tragedy of de Lesseps and his company:

"The digging of the Suez canal was the accomplishment of his life. All his vigor and energy had gone into it. He came back to Paris literally carried on the shoulders of his nation. The government made him a 'comte' and the people called him 'le grand Français.' But he fell among thieves. The old man tumbled blindly into the trap of speculators, who foresaw a rich harvest in the drawing together of his great name and the shady concession of Lieutenant Wyse. They set the stage by summoning the scientists of the world to a great congress to discuss an Atlantic-Pacific canal. Although it was called a 'scientific' congress, most of its 136 members were speculators and politicians. Only forty-two were engineers or geographers. They elected Count de Lesseps, railroaded through a resolution that the Panama route was the only practicable one, and formed the Universal Inter-oceanic Canal company by buying the Wyse concession for 10,000,000 francs, before the bona fide members of the congress knew what had happened and in the face of much protest. There can be little doubt that the congress was packed like a ward caucus, but there is no evidence that de Lesseps realized that it was.

"The company was launched with many banquets, florid speeches by le grand Français, and champagne without end. And all the time those who were on the inside were playing the market from both ends, sending the stocks tumbling down the steps of the bourse on a manufactured report that the United States was again warring the Monroe Doctrine, shooting them up again with a misquotation from the president's message to the effect that we were enthusiastic in favor of the French enterprise. A sorrier exhibition of conscienceless finance has seldom been seen."

Old de Lesseps, however, was in earnest. He sent over engineers who discovered that Wyse's maps were inaccurate and that yellow fever was deadly. Then in December, 1879, the count himself, with his wife and three children, arrived from France. After receptions and speech-making in Colon he crossed to Panama, and there, on January 1, 1880, the formal opening of the canal was performed with elaborate ceremony. Mile, Ferdinand de Lesseps struck the first blow of a pickaxe at the point where the canal was to enter the Pacific, each of the party followed with a blow, and there was a vast quantity of applause and champagne.

From the very first the French company was beset with troubles. As the canal was not a government undertaking the work had to be let out to contractors, and many of these proved to be dishonest. They would take out the soft dirt, collect the stipulated price per cubic yard, and then go into bankruptcy. At Bogota the politicians not only exacted the usual blackmail, but annoyed the company with all manner of litigation, the native courts invariably ruling against the French. Worst of all, perhaps, were the yellow fever and malaria, which killed off the engineers and laborers by the thousand. In the last three months of 1884 the death rate per thousand was nearly 100, and in September, 1885, it reached 176.97. Sanitary science had not yet learned how to cope with these diseases, and there is every reason to believe that their ravages alone would have been enough to insure the failure of de Lesseps' enterprise, without the gross extravagance and the dishonesty that characterized the work.

"The crash came in 1888," says Mr. Edwards. "After eight years of as brave a fight as man had ever made against nature, the bubble burst. It is estimated that stock had been issued to the value of two hundred and fifty million dollars. It is doubtful if half this sum ever got near enough to Panama to be expended on actual work. Most of this paper was held by French peasants and people of moderate means. They had been led into it by the great name of de Lesseps. You may be sure that none of the original promoters were caught with stock on their hands when the final break came. The scandal was immense. Many government officials were involved. The shame of it drove the old man—le Grand Français—insane. He died a few years later in an asylum."

STATUE OF COLUMBUS AT CRISTOBAL

The company went into the hands of a receiver who organized the New French Canal company, and this concern sold all its rights and property to the United States in 1902. Many of its buildings, ranging in size from de Lesseps' palace in Cristobal to houses for laborers, were found worth preserving and have been used by the Americans. The hospital buildings at Ancon and Colon were nearly all erected by the French.

When Uncle Sam took hold of the canal work, the jungle all along the route across the isthmus was found full of expensive machinery abandoned to the ravages of rust and decay. Much of this was recovered and used in the earlier years of the American regime, and even now French dredges and locomotives may be seen at work there. Nearly all the old French equipment, however, has been sold to a Chicago wrecking concern which has been piling it up in orderly heaps and disposing of it as scrap.

Two parts of the actual work done on the canal by the French have proved of great help to the Americans. These were the dredging at the Atlantic entrance and the dry excavation in the Culbra cut.

The Love Letters of a Confederate General

WE begin in the November issue a series of real love-letters written over fifty years ago by one of our national heroes to his sweetheart during the period of '61 to '65. This great general will go down to posterity as having accomplished one of the most brilliant feats of arms in the history of the world. He was as great a lover as he was a general, therefore these letters combine authentic history and exquisite romance. They sound a human note that no other work of literature has done in a decade; it is war, it is romance, it is history, it is literature. You simply can't afford to miss this wonderful series—an inside story of the Civil War now published for the first time and containing all the freshness of a contemporary happening. These letters will grip you hard, and hold your interest from first to last. Fill out the coupon and send it now before you forget it.

Hard Luck.

Garden City, Kas.—In a letter from Mrs. James Hammer, of this

THE BABY SHOW

At the Fair Will Be a Great Ring.

The embryonic display of future farmers and professional men, as well as belles, will be a great feature at the approaching Pennyroyal fair. The ladies of the Civic League are after the fair directors to have the baby show put into the list of "attractions" and offer a suitable premium. Mrs. George Kolb, chairman of this special committee, reported last Saturday that the prospects for the baby show were flattering. At every fair where this show has been put on it has been a financial success, the gate receipts at many places being doubled. As Col. Roosevelt might suggest, why not have a twin show, too?

SMOOTH THIEF.

Locks Door After Making Haul and Departs.

Mr. Tom Taylor, of the Church Hill neighborhood, was robbed of a suit of clothes, a watch and some small coins a few days ago. Mr. Taylor locked the doors of his house and left home on business. On his return he found the doors fastened just as he left them, but the articles mentioned were missing. The supposition is that a thief found the key which had been hidden, and, unlocking one of the doors, helped himself to the contents of the house, and then locking up, placed the key where he found it before departing.
